What is a war? Behold! Vast regions desolated, forest rent, villages in ruins, fields left barren and waste! Thousands in their vigour of life, blown up and scattered like chaff before the wind! Thousands again groaning in the agony of broken limbs! Beyond the scene of desolation, roads strewn with the wounded and the dying, harvests trampled underfoot, windows, orphans and aged parents in loud mourning! Strangely enough, to our eternal shame, we seem dead to these horrors and miseries of wars. The sufferings and death of a single fellow- being often excite tender and active compassion, while we hear, without emotion of thousands enduring every variety of woe in war. A single murder, in times of peace, starts a thrill of sensation with the countless murders of war is heard as an amusing tale. The execution even of a criminal sicken and shocks the mind, and philanthropy is labouring to substitute milder form of punishment for death, but benevolence has hardly made any effort to snatch from sudden and ultimately death the countless victims leading on to the altar of war.
